Hi Karen –

Please excuse yesterday. Personal Privacy / Ex. 6 The rest of my day was domino effect mess from there. I knowing time is precious and apologize for not getting in contact with you. Provided below are the information updates that I planned to share with you last night. Need your help in not releasing or sharing notes. Please let me know if there are other items that you would like follow up on. I have 2:30 meeting today with Cassie and Fatuma to overview the revised project schedule.

Thanks, Alanna

- Attached is the revised Portland Harbor project schedule. The timing for releasing the proposed plan to public is pushed to 2016.

- May 13: Portland Harbor stakeholder meetings-Dennis McLerran and Jim Woolford, Director, Office of Superfund Remediation and Technology Innovation (OSRTI), and EPA met with MOU Tribal partners and community members to discuss the Portland Harbor Superfund site updates. EPA plan to meet with Tribal and community partners on the same schedule as meetings with the Lower Willamette Group Executives. The first meeting of the year was held on Jan 7th. The revised project schedule, Tribal consultation, and Tribal and community issues/concerns were discussed. Discussion points included concern about Tribal funding through the Proposed Plan phase, sufficient staff resources to meet the new project schedule, houseless community living in Willamette Cove area and continued involvement with EJ communities. Dennis and Jim were also interviewed by the Portland Business Journal.
- May 21, Visit Willamette Cove with ODEQ to assess houseless population living in area. Willamette Cove is a hot spot beach area of the site with high concentrations of lead. This area is planned to be a priority site when site clean-up begins. During design phase, additional sampling along the shoreline may occur – no specific details. Last weeks' visit is a follow-up to the May 13th discussion that members from Right 2 Survive had with Dennis McLerran and Jim Woolford concerning transient individuals living, bathing, and catching fish from this area. During visit it was noted that people are camping, have docked boats, fishing, and burning fires in area. Did not observe gardens. The OHA signs were observed, 1 was spray painted, others were observed posted on trees. There were also boxed food containers. Understanding houseless population around the Cove and other PH areas is EPA concern and would like to document locations along HP known as camping sites.

Future CAG meetings:

- July 9, Community meeting to overview Baseline Ecological Risk Assessment (Burt Shephard) and Overview EJ concerns_ (Sheryl Stohs)
- August 13, Community meeting to overview revised Project Timeline and Overview Feasibility Study Outline (Kristine Koch, A. Conley)
- September 10, Community meeting to overview Chapter 1 of Feasibility Study (Kristine Koch, A. Conley)
- October, Community meeting to overview Chapter 2 of Feasibility Study (Kristine Koch, A. Conley)
- January 2015, Community meeting to overview Chapter 3 of Feasibility Study (Kristine Koch, A. Conley)
- April 2015, Community meeting to overview Chapter 4 of Feasibility Study (Kristine Koch, A. Conley)

It would be good to connect before the PHCC meeting to share updates. If you have 30 minutes before the meeting perhaps we can meet at 5:15 at a coffee shop.

Hello Karen,

FYI if you don't have this invite.

I have the fish advisory info that you provided – thanks.

We'll talk Monday but I visited Willamette Cove today to follow-up from a discussion Right to Survive members had during the meeting RA Dennis McLerran.

Bring you up to speed next week -Talk with you later.

Greetings PHCC Family,

It's that time of the Month for the Portland Harbor Community Coalition (PHCC) meeting. Each and everyday we are thrilled and look forward to PHCC meeting as the passion and hope continues to vibrate the room, leaving us inspired and pumped to continue our work for a sustainable community

Our last meeting was very successful as we outlined our community outreach plan from 2014-2015. For the upcoming meeting, which is schedules to take place Tuesday, May 27, from 6:00pm-8:00pm Groundwork Portland. We hope to continue the great work and finalize some parts. And share the exciting event we have in store for the month of June.

Please pencil the date into your schedule; we love to see all of you at the meeting. And let us not forget the words of Henry Ford “ Coming together is a beginning, Keeping together is progress, and working together is a success”. This truly resonates with PHCC vision of creating a movement of change!

Kindly reply back to this email and confirm your attendance. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us.

Warm regards,

Faduma Ali
